Electromagnetic smog is an omnipresent and ever increasing problem in our environment. Since mobile phones were introduced, it has become even more obvious. There are many adverse effects on health which are brought on by mobile phones: sleep disorders, headaches, concentration problems, probably even cancer. This is backed up by a large number of scientific investigations.

Most people do not even notice the electromagnetic smog directly, but this is just what makes it so dangerous. In electric measurements taken on the acupuncture system of the human body (electro-acupuncture) it was proved that any electromagnetic smog causes strain, even that of a straightforward floor lamp. This strain, though, is quite different in intensity and depends on the source of radiation, it is however particularly grave with mobile phones.

Considering that the effects of electromagnetic smog on the body are measurable by means of electro-acupuncture, it would appear that the same measuring method can help in the search for remedies. BioProtect is the result of this search.

In this search it was found that electromagnetic waves always contain two types of waves. These are firstly the transverse waves which are easy to measure with the commonly used instruments and which are in our days mainly used for technical purposes, also in mobile phones, and secondly the longitudinal waves, also called Tesla waves after their discoverer Nicola Tesla. These longitudinal waves have biological effects that are measurable in the acupuncture system, in the growth of cell cultures and also in the change in brain waves in an electroencephalogram. They represent what we call "electromagnetic smog". Up to now it is not possible to measure longitudinal waves directly, using technical measuring instruments, but only via their biological effects.

These biologically effective longitudinal waves have specific physical properties differing from those of transverse waves. As early as 1880, Nicola Tesla has described them and established their existence by experiments. Owing to these different properties it is possible to filter out the longitudinal waves in a selective way. To do so, a medium is required that resonates with these waves and absorbs them.

With the help of acupuncture, Dr. med. Dietrich Grün has found several ways of creating such a resonance, and so it has been possible to neutralize the biologically harmful effects of longitudinal waves.

All effects of BioProtect were proved, for a start, by electro-acupuncture measurements, and then in practical testing involving a large number of patients.

BioProtect is available as:

BioProtect Card, in electronic chip card size	24.00 €
BioProtect Handy, 15 x 25 mm	6.00 €
BioProtect 400, 210 x 130 mm	150.00 €

to suppress interferences all over your home, including the TV set, the telephone handset and the PC, with a radius of action of 400 m for mobile phones. The electromagnetic smog of the mains current, however, will have to be neutralized separately by attaching a BioProtect Card to the fuse box.

Instructions for Use

The simplest and most efficient mode of application is to attach the BioProtect Card directly to the unit generating electromagnetic smog, e.g. to the PC housing, to the back of the PC monitor or of the TV set, to the housing of the microwave oven, etc. ... It is also possible to attach the BioProtect Card to the power supply cables of the respective units.

Attached to the electricity meter box or the fuse box, the BioProtect card will neutralize the electro-magnetic smog entering your home via the electric lines. Lamps and heat-generating sets and appliances will then be free from electromagnetic smog.

The smaller BioProtect Handy is available for mobile phones and telephone hand sets. Just stick it to the outside of the phone or put it in the battery compartment. If used with telephone hand sets, also the base station has to be cleared by a sticker near the antenna.

If worn on your body, the BioProtect Card will neutralize the electromagnetic smog from your environment, be it from your computer, mobile phone or TV or from the electric network. Electro-acupuncture measurements have shown that the mere presence of the BioProtect Card alone has an energetically positive influence on the body if the card is not further than 5 cm away from the body. It may happen, though, that very sensitive persons get the impression that this effect is too strong. In such cases it will be better to deposit the BioProtect Card somewhere nearby. For mobile phones the electromagnetic smog neutralizing effect covers a distance of up to 15 m. To this effect, the BioProtect Card must lie flatly on its support.

The electro-acupuncture measurements have also shown that the same measuring instrument setup allowing to establish the presence of longitudinal waves also supplies readings allowing to establish the presence of so-called water veins. This biologically negative effect of geopathogenenic areas of irritation will disappear within a radius of at least 15 m around if you place the BioProtect Card on this area. If you do not know the exact location of the area, it will be best for you to wear the card on your body.

The BioProtect Card is waterproof. Daily use will not cause it to lose any of its efficacy. Its efficacy cannot be cancelled by high frequency radiation, X-rays or magnets, either.
